

Nina Li obtained a bachelor's degree in mathematics education in 1999, and taught in the mathematics department from 1999-2002. She lectured on subjects such as "Advanced Mathematics", "Discrete Mathematics", and "Complex Variable Function". She studied for master and doctorate degrees at Jilin University from 2002-2008. She obtained a doctorate degree in 2008 and taught as an associate professor in 211 universities from 2008 to 2017. She mainly taught subjects such as "Quantitative econometrics" and "Technical Economics" for international students and bilingual courses on campus.